

Horoscopes...What's in your future???

taken from www.astrology.com

Aries- The latest miracle weight loss plan or muscle builder might seem like an easy way to boost your hotness factor. Unfortunately, no matter what the advertisers say, these kinds of shortcuts don't usually pan out. Save your money.

Taurus- Whether you're looking for a serious relationship or just someone to hang out with, you've got a good chance at finding that person today. Maybe even more than one! Don't rush into anything -- it's all about having fun right now.

Gemini- Are parents or siblings getting just a bit too curious about your personal business? Remember, your parents are probably just concerned about you. As for your siblings -- well, you could always just lock them out of your bedroom.

Cancer- Even though nothing really huge will probably happen, you'll probably still have a pretty good day. Spend time with your friends, reply to old emails and catch up on some of your schoolwork.

Leo- Expect a little bit of financial stress today. Your parents may not be all that eager to fork over the cash for your latest must-have. You might need to either figure out some kind of savings plan or be willing to (gasp) go without.

Virgo- Whoever thinks that you are immature or not together has obviously not hung out with a lot of Virgos. You've probably got your life running smoothly and according to plan. Even teachers and parents might wonder how you manage it.

Libra- Even though you're smart enough to see through people's fake behavior, you're not necessarily going to make a big deal out of it. Why bother? You've got more important things to worry about.

Scorpio- A friend of yours might be stressing over a difficult assignment or a certain romantic dilemma. Can you help them out of it? Be smart and sensitive, and you just might do the good deed of the year.

Sagittarius- Trying to be funny around teachers or administrators may not be such a good idea today. Not everyone may understand your sense of humor. Save the jokes for after class -- your friends will appreciate them a lot more.

Capricorn- A certain important project or assignment might actually inspire you today. Instead of waiting till the last minute to start, you may decide to dive in right away.

Aquarius- Everybody wants to one-up the system sometimes. But a lot of times it can backfire really badly. Playing by the rules might be your best bet.

Pisces- A new relationship or friendship might go down the drain if you're too quick to judge the other person. Let them live their own life and make their own mistakes. If they need help, they'll probably ask for it.
