Digital Citizenship for the New Generation

In these times it is difficult to avoid the pull into the digital and social media world. There are so many platforms available for us to connect with friends and family and investigate things that we are curious about. Navigating digital citizenship can be difficult for adults and our students alike. Common Sense Education shares that, "Kids and teens today are using the immense power of digital media to explore, connect, create, and learn in ways never before imagined. With this power, young people have extraordinary opportunities, and yet they face potential pitfalls, too. Meanwhile, schools are dealing with the associated ramifications- like cyberbullying, digital cheating, and safety and security concerns."

Digital Citizenship is defined as the responsible use of technology to learn, create, and participate. At Maquoketa Valley students are exposed to technology in many different ways. With the switch to 1:1 computers at the start of the 2020-2021 school year for grades K-12, our student opportunities have grown. In response to these opportunities, teachers and school counselors have taken every available opportunity to integrate responsible technology use into their daily routines. Lessons related to digital citizenship are a part of formal and informal class meetings, SEL CORE instruction, weekly WIN lessons, and technology and guidance classes. Students have been given opportunities to learn and create with technology through our Makers Space classes at the elementary level, technology labs at the middle school level, and through the variety of CTE courses offered at the high school.

Digital Citizenship for the New Generation

One of the most important things that we can do to promote digital citizenship is to monitor student screen time and the content/sites in which our students are interacting with. Common Sense Education shared the staggering amount of screen use among different age groups in their 2021 report. They reported that on average, children eight and younger use about two and half hours of screen media a day, tweens average four hours and forty-four minutes, and teens average seven hours and twenty-two minutes. This screen use does not include the time spent on school or homework. So as you can see, based on these numbers students of all ages are spending large amounts of time logging into the digital and social media world outside of the school day. It is important to be present in your student's digital footprint and assist them in making online choices that are Respectful, Responsible, and Safe. It's the Wildcat Way!

Dive Into Reading

Greetings from Title I at Johnston Elementary!

Who doesn't love a good book on the beach? Here at Johnston we are doing just that! Students are able to spread out in the library with their beach attire, read out of their book boxes, and enjoy a snack every Friday afternoon. Moreover, students have a weekly challenge to read at home and turn in their minutes. On that note, I would like to stress the importance for students to read at home. One of the biggest indicators of reading success is the volume of reading. So anytime you can promote reading for your student please do! And, if you ever need assistance in helping your student find a good fit book at home please let us know! We would be glad to help any and all students increase their volume of reading. Another way to help students is by letting them find something they are interested in and if it is too difficult for them to read on their own, by all means sit down and read with them or to them. We want students to find the love of reading anywhere they may find themselves, not just on the beach!

3rd Grade Update

Submitted by: Mrs. Jill Besler

Our third graders have been working so hard that it was time to celebrate all of their success! On Friday, February 11, students enjoyed a “football/sports” themed day. The classrooms were transformed with fun decorations and we enjoyed a whole day of sports themed lessons. It was so much fun!

In literacy, students researched famous stadiums located all over the world. Student teams then presented their research to the class. We learned about so many amazing architectural wonders!

Math class had students practicing several different skills. At the popcorn stand, students uncrumpled pieces of paper (popcorn!) to answer questions about area of rectangles. Students had to use their addition and subtraction skills to calculate totals at the concession stand. Finally, a color by number activity reinforced multi-digit addition and subtraction.

The 3rd through 5th grade students are excited to present their spring concert, Cross Curricular Adventures. Each grade level will perform 3 selections and then all will sing one final song together at the conclusion of the concert. The songs that will be sung all represent a lesson or unit the classes have been learning throughout the year. The music will cover things like The water cycle, Westward expansion & the Lewis & Clark Expedition, The Revolutionary War, The Civil War, slavery, poetry, and being a good friend. The Spring 3-5 vocal concert will be held in the Middle School Gym on Thursday, April 7 at 6:30pm. Students will need to leave their coats with parents/guardians and then meet in their classroom at 6:15 to get in order before the concert. 5th Grade band students will come directly to the gym at 6:15 to warm up and will NOT go to their classroom until after the band has performed. A note was sent the week of conferences and included all the drop-off and pick-up details for the night of the concert. Please contact Mrs. Fisher if you have any questions!

Kindergarten News

Spring is such an exciting time in kindergarten as the students are applying the skills that they learned first semester for reading and writing. We have quickly moved from identifying letter sounds to putting the sounds together to read single words. Now the students are reading full sentences and books!! They are also able to use their letter sounds to phonetically spell words and write sentences. They are have so much to be proud of and are feeling like big kids!

In math we just finished a unit on addition and subtraction. This was a very hands on unit where the students used a lot of different manipulatives to break numbers apart and put them back together. They learned about hidden partners inside of numbers. For example, 1 and 4 are hidden partners inside of the number 5. We are now learning about numbers 10 and beyond in our current unit. We will be starting a new unit in science soon where the students will be learning about different materials such as wood, fabric and paper.

Maquoketa Valley Wraps Up FOUR Scholastic Book Fairs: Books, Books, and More BOOKS!

The Scholastic Book Fair visited Maquoketa Valley from March 15 through March 24 in Delhi, Earlville, and Hopkinton. Students spent these days creating Wish Lists, previewing the Book Fair, and participating in a Pre-8 Coin War. The hallways were buzzing with an eagerness to earn some new books for our district classrooms and libraries. The Coin War took place the week of March 15-18 with the winners earning special prizes as they brought in pennies, nickels, dimes, and quarters. The competition got fierce as each Pre-5 classroom was eager to win privileges such as lunch in the classroom, extra recess, chewing gum in the classroom, read and feed days, and other incentives. The elementary students (Pre-5) were able to raise $3,487.76 to purchase new books for their classrooms (Earlville: $653.76; Johnston: $1026.41; Delhi: $1807.59). The Middle School students (grades 6-8) got excited about a separate bank of prizes: Hat Day, Choose the School's Lunch, Movie in the Auditorium, and others - with the largest incentive being a Lip Sync Battle. For every $25 earned per English class, the students would cash in on another incentive. The Middle School students were able to raise $846.86 to purchase new books for their English classrooms. This smashed last year's total of $575 and was by far the most earned in the seven years that the Middle School has participated in the Coin War! With the money earned over the course of the Coin War, teachers were able to purchase hundreds of new books for their classrooms (Pre-8). The students were thrilled! Check out the pictures of some of the new classroom books on our MV Facebook page. Again this year, students were able to make purchases from the Book Fair during school hours. Using their Wish List to guide them, students came to the Book Fair during the school day and found books that made their hearts and minds happy to read. They were able to walk away from the Book Fair with their new book(s) in-hand to take home! All of this excitement spilled over into the following week when the Book Fair opened to the public for two nights during Spring Conferences (March 22 and March 24). With the profit earned from this year's Book Fair, our district libraries will be able to purchase new books using Scholastic Dollars yet this school year with many more to be purchased during the upcoming 2022-2023 school year. A big "THANK YOU" to the families who donated to the Coin War, to all those who purchased from the Book Fair, and to everyone who contributed to the success of MV's Scholastic Book Fair this year -- our classrooms, libraries, teachers, and students benefit greatly from your support! -- Audrey Moenck, Book Fair Chairperson (audreymoenck@maquoketa-v.k12.ia.us)
